Action Floor Systems® Publishes Verified EPD
Company demonstrates commitment to highest level of product transparency

MERCER, Wis. – Action Floor Systems, a manufacturer of maple sports flooring systems and supplier of premium synthetic sports and commercial flooring systems, recently registered an independently verified Environmental Product Declaration (EPD) on its maple sports flooring.

An EPD is an independently verified certification that transparently communicates the elements of a product and all of the environmental impacts, from raw material extraction to the use phase and through to end-of-life. To receive EPD certification, a company must perform a Life Cycle Assessment (LCA) following the industry-wide Product Category Rules (PCR), according to International Organization for Standardization's (ISO) standards.

“Publishing an EPD reinforces Action Floors’ commitment to the environment and sustainable and healthy building initiatives,” said Don Brown, Action Floors technical director. “When architects, facility managers, or dealers source maple flooring products from our company, they know they are getting a product with a fully transparent environmental impact profile that can contribute to LEED® v4 credits.”

SCS Global Services, a leader in third-party environmental and sustainability certification and standards development conducted the LCA study on Action Floors’ maple hardwood systems. The EPD was independently third-party verified and is listed on SCS’ Green Product Guide along with Action Floors’ FloorScore® certification, the most recognized indoor air quality (IAQ) certification standard for hard surface flooring materials, adhesives, and underlayments.

The EPD report discloses all the information required by ISO according to the PCR and includes a complete description of the product, the LCA study and its results, and any further environmental information a customer might need for product sourcing. Customers who purchase products with a verified EPD can also contribute to valuable LEED credits.
