

HARDWOOD PREMIUM SHEATHING

Sheathing built for sports floor applications

For wood subflooring that stands up to the day-in, day-out rigors of athletic use, Hardwood Premium Sheathing (HPS) is your answer. HPS panels are constructed of pure hardwood and produced with resins that minimize moisture migration. The result is a tough, lasting subfloor that installs easily, stays flat, and ends warping and bowing concerns. Year after year, HPS delivers trouble-free service and minimal maintenance.

Sanded on one side to create a smooth face

Made with sustainably harvested hardwood

Ultrasonically scanned to detect voids and defects

Winning features

- Sustainably harvested hardwood
- No-urea-formaldehyde resin allows HPS to classify as Low-Emitting Material Composite Wood
- Ultrasonic scanning detects any voids or defects in the sheathing, which are then removed from production, ensuring a stronger and more consistent panel
- All panels are free of voids that can weaken sheathing, reduce the fastener holding power, and lessen the uniformity of the floor system, which sometimes occurs with plywood or OSB
- Each HPS panel is sanded on one side to create a smooth face and further ensure consistent thickness; the uniform thickness of HPS adds to the consistency, playability, and performance of the floor system
- HPS panels are true 15/32" (12 mm) or 23/32" (19mm) thick APA exposure 1 rated sheathing for optimal strength and stability
 - Minimum APA span rating of 32/16* for 15/32" panel
 - Minimum APA span rating of 48/24* for 23/32" panel
- APA allowable live loads
 - 70 psf for 15/32" panel
 - 170 psf for 23/32" panel
